Key Points

1. The proceedings remain live following the adjournment ordered on 20 March 2026.

4. A formal CID complaint and supporting dossier have been submitted in Antigua in relation to alleged court-record interference and potential evidence tampering.
5. Related UK police, regulatory, and medical materials are noted solely as part of the wider procedural context.

1. Introduction

1. This Note is filed by the Appellant for the assistance of the Court in order to place on record the present procedural position during the period of adjournment, and to identify matters which are material to case management and the proper administration of justice.

2. In particular, this Note addresses:

- (1) the status of these proceedings following adjournment;
- (2) continuing non-compliance and/or non-response by the Respondent;
- (3) parallel civil proceedings in Antigua and Barbuda arising from substantially overlapping matters;
- (4) a related criminal referral concerning the integrity of court records; and
- (5) associated regulatory and evidential matters arising across jurisdictions.

2. Status of Proceedings

3. By Order of Senior Master Cook dated 20 March 2026, the hearing listed for 25 March 2026 was adjourned to the first available date after 18 June 2026, with costs reserved.

4. The Appellant respectfully records that:

- (1) these proceedings remain live and properly constituted;
- (2) there has been no dismissal or final determination; and
- (3) the Appellant's claims remain extant.

5. This Note is filed to ensure that the Court retains a clear and accurate record of the position during the adjournment period.

3. Non-Compliance and Non-Response

6. As at the date of this Note, the Respondent has failed to provide substantive response and/or compliance in relation to:

- (1) appeal documentation;
- (2) procedural obligations arising in these proceedings; and
- (3) matters raised by the Appellant concerning the integrity of the record.

7. The Appellant respectfully submits that such continuing non-compliance is relevant to:

- (1) case management;
- (2) procedural fairness; and
- (3) any further directions the Court may consider appropriate upon relisting.

4. Parallel Proceedings - Antigua and Barbuda

8. The Court is respectfully informed of ongoing proceedings in the High Court of Justice, Eastern Caribbean Supreme Court, Antigua and Barbuda (Claim No. ANUHCV2025/0149).

9. In those proceedings:

- (1) multiple defendants (approximately 84) have been duly served;
- (2) a substantial number are in default; and
- (3) such defaults have been formally recognised on the record.

10. Issues relating to enforcement, contempt, and record integrity remain active in that jurisdiction.

11. Those proceedings arise from substantially overlapping facts and form part of a synchronised evidential matrix with these proceedings.

5. Related Criminal Referral - Antigua (CID)

12. The Appellant records that a formal complaint and supporting dossier have been submitted to the Criminal Investigations Department of the Royal Police Force of Antigua and Barbuda.

13. The matters raised concern, inter alia:

- (1) alleged interference with court records;
- (2) potential evidence tampering; and
- (3) conduct capable of amounting to obstruction of justice.

14. The Appellant understands that those matters are presently under consideration by the relevant authorities and that an investigation is in the process of being opened.

15. This is drawn to the Court's attention solely insofar as it bears upon the integrity of the evidential record and the proper administration of justice.

6. United Kingdom - Police Engagement

16. The Appellant further notes that matters arising from the same factual matrix have been referred to the Metropolitan Police Service and are associated with an active case reference and assigned officer.

17. This is recorded for completeness only.

7. United Kingdom - Regulatory Matters (SRA)

18. The Appellant has raised matters with the Solicitors Regulation Authority in relation to conduct arising from the same underlying subject matter.

19. Those matters are the subject of formal regulatory correspondence.

8. Medical Position (For Context Only)

20. The Appellant is a disabled individual.

21. Independent medical evidence confirms that:

- (1) the Appellant retains full cognitive capacity and the ability to conduct and participate in proceedings; and
- (2) any symptoms identified arise from the cumulative effects of prolonged litigation.

22. This is provided solely to assist the Court in maintaining an accurate understanding of the Appellant's position and capacity.

9. Relevance to the Present Proceedings

23. The Appellant respectfully contends that the matters set out above are relevant in that they:

- (1) concern the integrity of the underlying evidential matrix;
- (2) raise issues of procedural fairness; and
- (3) may bear upon the proper administration of justice across jurisdictions.

10. Appellant's Position

24. In the absence of substantive compliance or response by the Respondent, the Appellant will rely upon the existing record, including:

- (1) the procedural history before this Court;
- (2) the recognised defaults in the Antigua proceedings; and
- (3) the existence and scope of the referral to CID.

25. The Appellant's position is that these matters form part of the broader factual and procedural context within which the Court is being asked to manage this case.

11. Reservation of Rights

26. The Appellant reserves all rights, including the right to:

- (1) seek further directions from the Court;
- (2) rely upon additional evidence already filed or capable of being filed;
- (3) draw attention to developments arising from related investigations or regulatory processes; and
- (4) seek such further or consequential relief as may be appropriate.

12. Conclusion

27. This Note is filed to ensure that the Court has a clear and accurate record of:

- (1) the continuing status of these proceedings notwithstanding adjournment;
- (2) the Respondent's continuing non-compliance; and
- (3) the existence of parallel civil, criminal, and regulatory matters arising from substantially the same subject matter.
