EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This exhibit establishes that the evidentiary record before the Court is structurally incomplete. The absence of evidence follows identifiable pathways, aligns with procedural patterns, and is consistent across multiple jurisdictions.

CORE SUBMISSION

The issue is not the weight of evidence but its structural absence. The record has been materially fragmented and cannot safely support enforcement without further judicial scrutiny.

SYSTEM PATHWAYS

1. Media Exposure
2. Legal Record Distortion
3. Government Contact
4. Witness Consistency
5. Economic Consistency
6. Investigative Overlap
7. Antiguan Judicial Issues
8. Intellectual Property Exploitation
9. Procedural Commoditization
10. Financial Irregularities
11. Labour Market Control
12. Content Distribution / Narrative Framing
13. Public Communications Infrastructure Use

RECORD DISRUPTION

Key individuals connected to the evidentiary chain are no longer available. This results in permanent impairment of evidentiary continuity and prevents full reconstruction of the record.

WITNESS VULNERABILITY

A number of individuals present with long-standing vulnerability and trauma histories. This affects disclosure patterns and contributes to gaps in the evidentiary record.
